

RECESS POLICY

Under ordinary circumstances, children who come to school are expected to participate fully in the school program, including recess breaks. The recess break is vital for children. Fresh air is not likely to worsen a mild cold, if the child is dressed properly. If the cold or illness is severe, we respectfully suggest that your child should not be sent to school. Children should be dressed appropriately for all weather conditions. In the event of severe inclement weather conditions, children are supervised indoors.
